

DECREE

In Big Railway Merger Suit.

Court Hold Consolidation Is Unlawful.

AS IT IS IN RESTRAINT OF TRADE AND COMMERCE

THE JUDGES ARE UNANIMOUS

Opinion Written by Judge Sanborn
Was Handed Down at Noon on Thursday

St. Paul, Minn., April 9.—A decree in favor of the United States was filed by United States District Judge Sanborn, at noon today adjudging that the combination of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads was in restraint of trade and enjoining the Northern Securities company from voting the stock of either railroad company and the officials of the roads from allowing the Northern Securities officials to vote their stock or pay dividends to the Securities company. The Securities company is allowed to return Northern Pacific and Great Northern stock to previous holders.

The injunction against the Northern Securities company is made perpetual. The decision is the most sweeping ever aimed at combinations or trusts. Every contention of the government is upheld. The decision of the reviewing judges, Sanborn, Caldwell, Thayer and Vandeventer, is unanimous. Judge Sanborn wrote the decree. The judges hold that the two roads are parallel and competing lines and that their consolidation therefore is in restraint of trade and commerce.

How It Happened.

Julian Speer, the 16 year old son of Dr. A. T. Speer, while using the parallel bars at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Wednesday night lost his hold with one hand and fell only a short distance to the floor. His right leg was twisted under him and was broken between the knee and hip.

The lad was taken to his home on East Church street, where he is being made as comfortable as possible. The Y. M. C. A. gymnasium director was not present at the time the accident occurred and no class was being instructed at the time.

Members of the Yawners' organization are urged as it were, to take action against this insidious, so to speak, infringement of our rights as anti-strenuousers. "Alarm clocks ain't no friends of ours."

The report of the water works trustees show a net balance on hand, after the payment of all expenditures of the year, including salaries of officers, etc., of over $700.

The reports of the clerk and treasurer were received, and the accounts audited. The result shows that notwithstanding the reduction in taxation of nearly two mills, that there was over $1600 in the treasury on April 1.

The reports of officers and heads of committees of the needs of the village for the ensuing year, showed a rate of 5 and 5-10 mills for the next year, being a reduction of three tenths of a mill over last year.

Mayor Swartz presented his first annual budget, which made some minor changes in the rate of the particular funds.

An ordinance was introduced to pave the side walk on the west side of Summit street from Pearl street to Grant street.

CHILD

Coveting Woman's Property
Tried to Poison
Mrs. Oster.

Tronton, O., April 8.—(Bulletin)—Hector Collins 8 years old now at the Children's Home here, is alleged to have confessed an attempt to poison Mrs. Oster near Mount Sterling, Ky., who adopted her and an attempt was made today to send her to the Girls' Industrial school. It was found impossible to do this however, as the child is a few months under nine and the offense was committed in Kentucky. Unless Delaware officials agree to take her the Children's Home officials will have her put in the infirmary so as to protect other children from her influence. She gave Mrs. Oster Paris green in coffee but not enough to kill. The girl said she wanted the woman's property.

STRUCK MATCH SETTING DRESS
ON FIRE

Little Daughter of George Green on North Fifth Street Badly Burned
Thursday Noon

A terrible accident happened about noon Thursday by which little Imogene, the sixteen months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Green, of 133 North Fifth street, was fearfully and dangerously burned. The little child's mother had gone out into the yard to burn some waste paper. During her absence the little one climbed upon a shelf and got some matches and struck one of them, which she dropped while it was yet blazing. The match ignited her dress, and instantly she was enveloped in flames. Mrs. Green, hearing the child's screams, ran into the house and threw her clothes around the child, and succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not before she was very seriously burned. Both the baby's hands and her legs from the knees down, and also the left side of her head and her mouth were burned. A physician was called and the usual remedies were applied. While the burns are of a very serious nature, it is not thought that they will prove fatal, as the child did not inhale any of the fire.

Russell Sage, Nestor of Wall street and as noted for the simplicity of his daily life as for his power in the financial world, has at the age of eighty-six appeared in the street with a valet.

The reason for the innovation is Mr. Sage's feeble health. Here is what Mr. Sage says: "I just let him tag around so as to make him appear old and feeble. I don't need him any more than a cat needs two tails."

ALABAMA HAMLET WIPED OUT

Seven Killed at Little Red, Ark., Ten at Hopewell, Ala.—Feared Other Places Suffered.

Little Rock, Ark., April 9.—Late advices today from the storm-stricken section of Arkansas indicate that the greatest loss of life in Tuesday night's tornado was at Little Red, in White county, on the banks of the Red River. There seven lives are known to have been lost. Possibly from five to ten others are dead in this vicinity.

Near the postoffice at Little Red, a house was blown away and all the occupants but one were killed. The one that escaped was a child about one year old. It had lain out in the rain and hail all night and was nearly frozen, but uninjured when found.

Near Pangburn, a woman and six small children were in a small box house. The woman put the children under the bed. The wind blew the house away, leaving only the floor. Even the sewing machine and dishes were broken and scattered in every direction. The roof of the house was blown entirely outside the field in which the house stood, but none of the family was killed, and only one was injured.

The storm occurred about 9 p. m. Tuesday and seems to have started on the mountain about seven miles south of Heber and to have pursued an easterly course, crossing the Red River near the postoffice of Little Red, where the waters are three miles wide. About ten miles east of Heber an old man named Williams was killed.

STORM IN ALABAMA

Birmingham, Ala., April 9.—Later news of yesterday's cyclone shows that the damage done by the storm was greater than first known. The hamlet of Hopewell, 40 miles north, was swept away, 10 people being killed, three fatally hurt and a score seriously injured.

The dead:
Mr. and Mrs. Mason Griffin.
James Griffin.
Henry McCoy.
Fred McCoy.
Birdie McCoy.
Norman Oden.
Hester Oden.
Thelma Oden.
Mrs. C. C. Oden.

Houses were tossed into the air and fell in ruins, crushing and mangle the inmates. Other victims were carried for hundreds of yards. It is feared that other towns have suffered from the storm which swept over parts of Alabama and Arkansas.

The flames spread to a closet filled with valuable attire, starting from a gas jet into which a curtain was blown by the wind. Mr. Stevenson did not realize how extensive the progress of the flames had been, and entered the room. He retreated just in time to avoid very serious consequences. As it was the hair of his head and mustache was burned off. He is suffering considerable pain and had a very close call. The loss is about $1,000, principally to the contents of the apartments.

ACTOR

Whose Elopement Created Quite a
Stir in '92, Committed Suicide in New York Thursday

New York, April 9.—George Garrard, actor and clubman, committed suicide this morning by shooting himself in the temple. Despondency over continued ill health is given as the cause. Garrard created a stir in 1892 by eloping with Minnie Turner, an actress, and a sister of the wife of Maurice S. Wormser, the millionaire banker. He was almost penniless at the time and the following morning went to his mother's home and asked for 25 cents with which to buy cigarettes.

OLDEST

Office Holder in Coshocton County
Has Been Constable for the Past
Fifty Years

Coshocton, Ohio, April 9.—One of the most remarkable office holders in Ohio was a candidate for re-election in Coshocton this spring. He is not only probably the oldest in years, but also the senior of any in years of service. He is William Jeffries, 85 years of age, and for 56 consecutive years a constable in Coshocton county. While living in White Eyes township, this county, in 1847, he was elected constable against his will, and served for 12 consecutive terms. Then he moved to Lafayette township, and on the afternoon of the first election day found that his new neighbors had elected him constable, that being his first appraisal of the honor. After six years he moved to this city, and his prowess as an officer of the law had preceded him. Without loss of time he was again elected constable and has served continuously ever since. He is popular with five generations, and his election Monday was a matter of course. Albert Henley of South Sixth street is sick with tonsillitis.

Company To Lay
a Pipe Line

CAPITAL STOCK RAISED TO FOUR MILLIONS

THE NEW OWNERS HAVE PLANS

To Put in One Hundred and Thirty-
Five Miles of Pipe—Important
Transfer is Made

Columbus, Ohio, April 9.—The Ohio Fuel Supply company of Pittsburg yesterday took entire charge of the business of the Federal Gas and Fuel company and Receiver Frank M. Peet left the offices at 52 West Gay street last night not to return.

The Ohio offices of the company are now in Zanesville, but the officials of the company announce that they may be moved to Columbus within a short time. The transfer includes $2,000,000 capital stock of the company and all the wells, plants and land.

The officers of the company in the city yesterday were: G. W. Crawford, president, Pittsburg; F. W. Crawford, first vice president, Cambridge; J. M. Garard, second vice president and general manager; H. C. Rieser, secretary and treasurer; Pittsburg; and M. C. Treat, Washington, Pa.; David Iseman, Washington, Pa.; and C. E. Crawford, Emlenton, Pa., directors.

Manager Garard will take up his residence at once in this city and will have charge of the enlargement of the plant here.

"We have just ordered 135 miles of pipe and will get it in as soon as possible," said Mr. Garard. "We shall supply this city from our Licking field, which is about 40 miles from here. The other 95 miles of pipe will be laid in the city and it will be but a short while before any person in any section of the city can get all the gas he wants. Our price will remain at 15 cents at least for some time."

"We can, if necessary furnish 100,000,000 feet of gas a day to this city and that will be sufficient to take care of residences, business blocks and all manufactures. We have 11 wells already opened in the Licking field, and have them plugged up, waiting for the completion of the main to this city. We shall continue to draw some gas from the Hooking county field."

"The capital stock of our company will be increased from $2,500,000 to $1,000,000 in order to take in this company. It was organized last May and we have a big field before us, with no bonds or debts."

It is possible that a break in their ranks will ensue.

Rotterdam, April 9.—The chances of a general strike of organized labor here grows less and less. There was no work today and 94 per cent of the employees of the Dutch railway company have offered to resume work. Rome, April 9.—The strike so far as being of a general character has failed. The military authorities seem to have the strike thoroughly in hand. Four hundred arrests in all have been made.

NAVIES OF THE WORLD.

Vessels Built and Building in the Different Countries.

Captain Sigbee, chief of the naval intelligence office, has prepared a series of tabular statements to show the comparative strength of the principal navies of the world, says the Washington Star.

Combining the list of vessels built with that of vessels authorized or building, the result shows that in battleships, coast defense ironclads and armored cruisers the nations stand as follows:

	Total number.	Total tonnage.
England	34	1,123,650
France	30	616,626
United States	49	496,174
Germany	49	356,038
Russia	49	373,160
Italy	24	263,624
Austria	16	114,500
Japan	15	154,157

This list puts the United States third in point of numbers and total tonnage at the present time. According to the building programme of Germany, that country in 1907 will have a fleet of thirty-eight battleships, fourteen large cruisers, thirty-eight small cruisers and sixteen divisions of torpedo boats, six to a division. Of the battleships twenty-five will be first class ships of over 10,000 tons, launched since 1891. As it takes nearly four years to build a battleship in the United States, our force, according to ships authorized, will in 1907 consist of thirty-five battleships, of which twenty-four will be first class ships of over 10,000 tons, launched since 1891. Of the fourteen large cruisers Germany will, probably have eight armored cruisers, launched since 1891, while the United States will have ten.

TREES FOR WHITE HOUSE.

Green Bays Imported From Holland Cost Nearly $200 Each.

A carload of green bay and box trees, which will be used in decorating the White House, reached Washington the other day after a circuitous trip, says the New York World. On account of their height the trees were shipped in a big furniture car which was too high to pass through the B. and O. tunnels or over the Long bridge, so it had to be sent by a roundabout way.

There are four green bay trees imported from Holland, which will be placed in the portico. They cost nearly $200 each. They are about twelve feet high. Two hundred box trees from five to twelve feet high will decorate the east and west colonnades, giving them the appearance of summer gardens. Another carload of box trees is on the way. They come from New Jersey.

The arrival of the trees caused surprise, as it was not generally known that the White House improvements included the purchase of shrubbery.

NEW NAMES FOR INDIANS.

Plan of Commissioner Jones to Simplify Work of His Department.

The Indian bureau has decided upon a policy which means trouble for the noble red man, says a Washington special to the Chicago Inter Ocean. It contemplates a rechristening of all the Indians in the United States, and the high down appellations of the warriors will be changed to commonplace names. The wishes of the Indians will not be consulted in the matter.

The change is expected to make as much trouble as did Commissioner Jones' famous hair cutting order, but he says it will make the work of his department much easier, as the names of many of the Indians are absolutely unpronounceable. Mr. Jones thinks that the greatest objections will come from the high chieftains, who glory in their names, but that the rest of the Indians will not object so long as the government furnishes them rations with liberality and regularity.

A REPLY TO BURROUGHS

Appropos of the criticism of Thompson Seton's animal stories by John Burroughs the famous naturalist, William S. Long, writing of his observations of the habits of wild animals in the Boston Transcript, says:

The extreme variety and adaptiveness in the same species are quite as true in the wild as in the domestic animals. The only difference is that we see much less of the wild animal's life, and we are still too much governed by the prejudices of the old natural history. The black bear of Florida differs widely in habits from his brother of the Mississippi cane swamps and still more widely in habits and disposition from the animal of the Canada wilderness. The panther of Colorado is afraid of the smallest of dogs; the panther of New Hampshire and the Adirondacks will kill the biggest of them without provocation. The salmon of the east coast tastes no food for months after entering fresh water; the salmon of the west coast is a voracious feeder. For thirty years I have heard the robin's song, every note and variation of it, yet last summer in the Maine woods Mr. Pearl Young, a well known guide, and myself spent an hour trying to find a rare wild singer that neither of us had ever heard before, and when we found him he was a common robin.

Mr. Burroughs denies that a porcupine ever "rolls himself into a ball." That may possibly be true of the porcupine that he has seen. Here the porcupine has no longer any natural enemies that he is afraid of, and there is no need of the habit. In the wilderness I have found them when I had to poke them with a stick, so closely were they rolled, before I was sure where the head and tail were. Neglect of this habit cost the life of one porcupine that I saw. It was in deep, soft snow. A fisher attacked the porcupine, which stuck his head against a log and kept its tail flat to the ground, ready to strike. The fisher tumbled deep in the snow, passed under the tail and body of the porcupine, stuck his head out of the snow under the porcupine's throat, gripped him and killed him without receiving a single barb.

A JAPANESE GARDEN.

Follow This Recipe and You Will Have One Complete.

The classical garden, like a sonnet, is governed by special laws of harmony and rhythm. It must have its five hills its ten trees and its fourteen stones. You can get along without the hills, but you cannot get along without stones. Indeed the perfect type of the flat garden is nothing but an archipelago of rocks in a sea of white pebbles. The stones must be the foundation; the rest are mere accessories. Speaking stones are what is wanted—stones that suggest moods and passions—for the Japanese recognize that there are sermons in stones. Each stone has its name and relative place in the composition. There is the guardian stone in the center and opposite it the belvedere stone. Across the cascade is the moonstone and so on.

The hills unmask each other by rule. The principal hill has its two foothills, its spur hills, its distant peak, seen through a valley, and the low hill that must stand on the opposite side of the lake.

As there are a principal stone and a principal hill, so must there be a "principal tree," the shoin boku, around which the Tree of Perfection, the Tree of Evil, the Tree of the Setting Sun, the Tree of Science and the Tree of Solitude bow their lesser heads.

These are the essentials. Now, add one pond, one island, two stone lanterns, three bridges and mix thoroughly, garnish with lotus and serve with goldfish and mandarin duck. There is a recipe for a Japanese garden.—William Verbeck in Country Life.

Whitney's Game Preserve Opened.

William C. Whitney opened October Mountain, his game preserve in the Berkshires, the other day, says a Windsor (Conn.) dispatch to the New York Times. He has engaged fifty men to build a macadam road down the mountain side and has planned other improvements. The stock wintered well, only one buffalo dying. There are now 21 head of bison, 60 elk, 4 moose, a large herd of red, black and mixed deer, a flock of sheep and Angora goats, and 300 pheasants. During the last year the gamekeeper, Charles A. Briggs, caught 200 hawks in elevated traps.

CRACK CAVALRYMEN.

OUR ARMY'S FINEST TO BE FOUND AT FORT MYER.

How the Picked Troops of Riders Are Trained For the Big Spring Tournament in New York—Remarkable Feats of Horsemanship.

Fort Myer, Va., April 6.—For the past four months there has been great activity at the military post here in preparation for the great tournament in Madison Square Garden, New York, during the latter part of April. The army is to be represented at the tournament by a troop and battery, the teams to be selected from the best drilled organizations at the various posts. Naturally the commanding officers at each fort are anxious to have

The critic accuses Mr. Seton of deliberate falsehood and misrepresentation. While I differ radically from Mr. Seton in many of his observations and theories of animals, my notes, covering a period of twenty years of close watching of animals, bear out some of the things which Mr. Burroughs assures us are pure inventions. The fox, for instance, that deliberately led the hounds in front of a train is ridiculous as a piece of pure absurdity. Yet two dogs of mine were killed by the same fox in this way at different times, and a third in a way much more remarkable. There was also a fox in West Upton, Mass., in the winters of 1887-89 that would play around the hills until he heard the hoot of a distant train, when he would lead the hounds straight for the railroad tracks. He succeeded in killing one of them at least to my own knowledge.

Mr. Burroughs is quite as far astray about the fox in many other particulars. He claims that a fox knows a trap by inherited knowledge. Now, a fox is like a cat in that he believes only his nose. When he avoids a trap, it is not because he knows it is a man's invention, but for exactly the opposite reason—namely, that it has a smell on it that he does not know. Put the same trap in shallow running water to take away the unknown smell, put a bit of green moss from a stone upon it, and a fox will put his foot into it without a question. He claims also that a fox in the wilderness knows as much as in a settled community. That must be a priori knowledge, for he has certainly never tried the wilderness fox. Personally I have trapped foxes in both places, and I have invariably found that the wilderness fox is as innocent when compared with his brother of the settlements. And this, contrary to Mr. Burroughs' absolute decree, is the result of teaching and experience.

Mr. Burroughs denies absolutely the story of the fox that brought poison to her young. There is a difficulty in that story which I hope some day to have Mr. Seton explain, but Mr. Burroughs does not discover it. Yet most of it is true in both fox and wolf nature as I know them. Mr. Richard Maddox, an English gentleman who has hunted each year for over twenty years in the Canadian Rockies and in Ontario, told me that a mother wolf brought poison to her two cubs that were kept chained on his ranch and killed them both in precisely this way.

HERO OF OMDURMAN

Story of General Hector Macdonald's Prowess in the Sudan.

At the time of the battle of Paardeberg, in the South African war, the late Sir Hector Macdonald was in the eyes of the multitude in England the man of the war. He had been summoned from India, where he had been serving since the Egyptian campaign, to proceed to South Africa when the Boer war broke out, and when the Highland brigade lost its chief, General Wauchope, on the black night of Magersfontein Macdonald received the command of the Scottish regiments. He remained in the field throughout the campaign, but had no opportunity of accomplishing any brilliant feat, such as that of Omdurman, in the Sudan, when his coolness in changing front at a critical moment of the Mahdist second attack saved Kitchener's flank.

It was of his conduct at Omdurman that the late Mr. George W. Stevens wrote: "But the cockpit of the fight was Macdonald's. The British might have been defeated; it was his to keep it and to kill off the attack. To meet it he turned his front through a complete half circle, facing successively south, west and north. Every tactical move in the army was delicious in his praise. The ignorant correspondent was content to watch the man and his back."

"Cool as on parade" is an old phrase. Macdonald Bey was very much cooler. Beneath the strong, square hewn face you could tell that the brain was working as if packed in ice. He sat solid on his horse and bent his black brows toward the green flag and the Regulations. Then he turned to a gallop with an order and entered easily up to a battalion commander. Magically the rifles hushed, the stinging powder smoke wisped away, and the companies were rapidly threading back and forward, round and round, in and out, as if it were a figure in a dance. In two minutes the brigade was together again in a new place. The field in front was hastening toward us in a whitish brown cloud of derisives and orders. Macdonald's jaws gripped and hardened as the flame spouted out again and the whitish brown cloud quivered and stood still.

"He saw everything, knew what to do, knew how to do it, did it. At the fire he was ever brooding watchfully behind the firing line; at the cease fire he was instantly in front of it. All saw him and knew that they were being nursed to triumph."

To set your system in perfect harmony with springtime, you need a spring tonic like Hager's Cordial or Cod Liver Oil. It cleanses the blood of winter's accumulated waste; makes better blood; better appetite; better flesh; better vitality. Agrees with weakest stomachs.

Attendance at these practice drills is necessarily very much restricted owing to the commotions of the riding hall. As a consequence great pressure is brought to bear on the war department in order to secure tickets of admission. Not more than 500 invitations can be extended for one drill, and those who receive an invitation must attend, or forfeit the ticket.

A CAVALRY STUNT AT FORT MYER.

their teams chosen, and difficult drills and intricate evolutions have been for a long time the order of the day.

Of those which will participate in the exhibition probably the most favored is the composite troop of the Second cavalry, which has been exercising here. This is not the only division of the Second cavalry being prepared for the tournament, but it is the one that has attracted the greatest attention, owing largely to the fact that it is located so near Washington. The composite troop has for its commander Captain Lloyd M. Brett, a veteran who is recognized as one of the best cavalry officers in the service. The troop itself is made up of details from Troops F, H, G and E and will be divided into two sections.

The first section will be fully equipped, but the second will dispense with saddles and use blanket and surcingle instead; hence it will be known as the bareback section. The first will perform the evolutions provided in the regulations for mounted troops, while the "bareback" men will give these and a few additional. Both sections have been drilled hard in the riding hall, and both are almost ready for the competition to determine the team for Madison Square Garden.

A visitor to the riding hall while a drill is in progress cannot but be impressed by the wonderful proficiency attained by these cavalrymen. The saddle troop goes through its paces first. Various formations are shown, and finally "troop front" is ordered. The men then lead their horses out until there is a space of about six paces between each two men. Sabers are drawn, and the fascinating saber drill follows, the men going through the successive movements in perfect unison and without a word of command. At the end of the saber drill the command to lie down comes, and in an instant every horse is thrown by its rider without dismounting. When the horses are again on their feet, a coffin is formed, the band plays, and the horses go through the complicated steps of the grand march. Hurdles are then brought out, and the cavalrymen take them four abreast. The exercises conclude with a terrific charge down the hall, the horses at breakneck speed, the men yelling like demons. When within three feet of the visitors' gallery, they are skillfully pulled up, and the column breaks into sets of fours and marches out of the hall.

All this is difficult enough, but it is nothing to the bareback exercises that follow. The troopers, equipped in regulation uniform, take the hurdles as gracefully and skillfully as the saddle-riding fellows. They are required to dismount, vault over the horse and remount from the opposite side while their steeds are first trotting and then galloping. Next the men are formed in columns of twos and take turns in dismounting and vaulting over their own horses to the backs of those ridden by their partners.

When this exercise is over, the hurdles are again brought out, and the men dismount and vault over their horses as they are taking the jumps. This is indeed an exciting feat, but it is performed in faultless style by the crack cavalrymen. With the horses still in pairs and one man managing both, his partner vaults to the back of his horse and, standing, rides over the hurdles. Three horses are then substituted for two, and the rider, standing, manages the three as they top the timber. Then four men take four horses abreast over the hurdles, all four men standing on the equines' backs. Other exercises include lying down with the horses, rising and vaulting over two, three, four and even five horses standing side by side.

Attendance at these practice drills is necessarily very much restricted owing to the commotions of the riding hall. As a consequence great pressure is brought to bear on the war department in order to secure tickets of admission. Not more than 500 invitations can be extended for one drill, and those who receive an invitation must attend, or forfeit the ticket.

PRESIDENT'S NEW FLAG.

Gorgeous Ensign Prescribed by the Secretary of War.

The president is to have a gorgeous new flag in addition to the regular blue ground bearing the official coat of arms of the United States which he flies when he goes aboard a naval vessel, says a Washington dispatch to the New York Tribune. The new ensign is an army device, designated as a headquarters flag, and is prescribed by the secretary of war in the following amendment to the regulations just issued:

"The headquarters flag of the president shall be of scarlet silk, 6 feet 6 inches by 4 feet on the pole, which shall be 10 feet long, including ferrule and head. The head shall consist of a globe, three inches in diameter, surmounted by an American eagle, alert, four inches high. In each of the four corners shall be a five pointed white star. The points of these stars lie in the circumference of an imaginary circle of two and a half inches radius. The centers of these imaginary circles, which coincide with the centers of these stars, are seven inches from the short sides and nine inches from the long sides of the color. In the center of the color shall be a large fifth star, also of five points, which lie in the circumference of an imaginary circle of sixteen and a half inches radius. The center of this circle is the point of intersection of the diagonals of the color. The re-entering angles of this large star lie in the circumference of an imaginary circle of eight inches radius, with the same center as before. Inside of the star thus outlined is a parallel star, separated from it by a band of white one and a half inches wide. This inner star forms a blue field, upon which is the official coat of arms of the United States as determined by the state department, the device being located by placing the middle point of the line dividing the chief from the paleways of the escutcheon upon the point of intersection of the diagonals of the color and thus coinciding with the center of the larger star. On the scarlet field around the larger star are other white stars, one for each state, equally scattered in the re-entering angles, and all included within the circumference of a circle of nineteen and a half inches radius, whose center is the center of the large star. The design, letters, figures and stars are to be embroidered in silk, the same on both sides of the color. The edges of the color are to be trimmed with knotted fringe of silver and gold three inches wide and one cord, having two tassels, 8 feet 6 inches long and made of red, white and blue silk intermixed."

A Starting Test.

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of No. McChopany, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes: "A patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach. I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles, so I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. Only 50c at Frank D. Hall's.

A HERON EXPERIMENT.

Smithsonian Institution's Plan to Learn Night Bird's Habits.

If any person shoots or captures a night heron with an aluminum band around its right leg with the inscription, "Smithsonian Institution," and a number anywhere between 1 and 800, he should communicate with Paul Bartsch, biologist of the Smithsonian, and tell him where the heron was shot, when, how large it was and all about it, says a Washington special dispatch to the Philadelphia Press. The night heron is a wanderer. It goes all over the world.

There is little exact knowledge of its habits and life. Last year Mr. Bartsch discovered three big breeding places of the heron in the District of Columbia on the banks of the Potomac. He prepared and numbered 800 aluminum bands. A few days ago, with several assistants, he went to the breeding places in the night and put bands around the legs of 800 young herons hatched during March.

What the ornithologists want to find out about the heron is how long it lives, how far it wanders and where it lives in the winter time. Mr. Bartsch thinks he will know all about the bird within the next five years, and then he will write a pamphlet about them.

The United States is back of the experiment. It furnished the aluminum bands.

PERFECT ASSIMILATION

Some people eat heartily, even ravenously, yet nothing seems to "stick to their ribs". Others don't eat much, but assimilate all nutriment in the food and get fat. We have letters from people who say that makes them fat. It doesn't. It simply gets their digestive organs in shape to take the nutriment out of the foods which they eat. It also acts as a gentle laxative and tonic. Please try it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

A. C. Jones, of Hortonville, Ind., writes: "I can say for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin that it is one of the best medicines I ever have taken; in just sixty days after I began to take your medicine, I had gained 30 pounds in weight, felt like a new man and I can highly recommend it to any one who is troubled with indigestion or dyspepsia."

ARRESTS MADE

Dr. G. W. Garrison Causes Warrants To Be Issued for Benj. Haynes and Wife of Utica on Charge of Assault and Battery.

Constable Bert Cunningham went to Utica at 8:15 this morning armed with a warrant for the arrest of Benjamin Haynes and his wife Julia Haynes, on a charge of assault and battery. The warrant was issued from 'Squire Atchley's court, on an affidavit filed there by George W. Garrison, the Utica physician, who on April 2, was attacked with a blacksnake whip on the streets of Utica by Mrs. Haynes. Her husband and Dr. Garrison's son, Charles, were injured in the fray one assisting his wife, the other defending his father. The affair at the time created intense excitement in the village.

Constable Cunningham will return on train No. 3 this afternoon with his prisoners. As exclusively wired the Advocate from Utica on the day of the occurrence, the alleged assault was the result of a remark that Dr. Garrison made to Mrs. Sperry. Mrs. Haynes had ordered Mrs. Sperry off her lot, but Mrs. Sperry, who was talking with a woman in an adjoining house had heard her, whereupon Dr. Garrison, who was across the street remarked to Mrs. Sperry that she had better get off the grass, or "that old gal would make it warm for her," or words to that effect.

Mr. and Mrs. Haynes were arraigned before 'Squire Atchley Thursday afternoon and by their counsel, B. G. Smythe stated that they were ready for trial. Mr. Fitzgibbon, the prosecutor, stated that his side was not ready, as several witnesses had to be subpoenaed. Mr. Smythe demurred to the affidavit, but after arguing the demurrer the affidavit was sustained, and the hearing set for next Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

STRUBLE ARRESTED

Partner of W. H. H. Miller Taken to Columbus by U. S. Officers—Says Trial Will Exonerate Him Completely.

F. C. Struble of the firm of Miller & Struble was arrested Wednesday afternoon and taken to Columbus on the Columbus, Buckeye Lake & Newark car at 3 o'clock, by United States Deputy Marshal Al. Bauer of that city.

Struble will have to answer a charge of fraudulent use of the mails in connection with the real estate operations of Miller & Struble. W. H. H. Miller is now out on $1000 bond for his trial on April 18 on the charge of fraudulent use of the mails, and G. W. J. Woltz is now in jail awaiting trial at Zanesville on the same charge.

Struble expressed no surprise at his arrest, saying he expected to be "nabbed" in Toledo. He made no effort to get away and says that at his trial he will be exonerated. His preliminary hearing was held before United States Commissioner Johnson, Thursday morning.

A special telegram to the Advocate from Columbus Thursday afternoon says that U. S. Commissioner Johnson is sick in bed with rheumatism and can not give Struble a hearing. There is no immediate prospect for his recovery. In consequence of the commissioner's illness, Mr. Struble languishes in the county jail and there he must remain until he is given a hearing. When that will take place is at this time indefinite.

A LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE

By Epes Sargent
EPES SARGENT, poet, novelist, dramatist and writer of miscellaneous matter, was born at Gloucester, Mass., in 1813 and died in Boston Dec. 31, 1889. He was educated at Harvard, but left college to adopt literature as a profession. He edited papers in Boston and New York and engaged with success in almost every branch of literature. Among the best known of Sargent's works are the songs, "A Life on the Ocean Wave," the dramas, "The Bride of Genoa," and "The Priestess," the stories, "What to Be Done" and "Fleetwood." Shortly before his death he compiled a "Cyclopedia of English and American Poetry."

A LIFE ON THE OCEAN WAVE.
A home on the rolling deep,
Where the scattered waves rave,
And the winds their revels keep!
Like an eagle, I pine
On this dull, unchanging shore:
Oh! give me the flashing brine,
The spray and the tempest's roar!

Once more on the deck I stand
Of my own swift-gliding craft:
Set sail! farewell to the land!
The gale follows fair abaft.
We shoot through the sparkling foam
Like an ocean-bird at free—
Like the ocean-bird our home
We'll find, far out on the sea.

The land is no longer in view,
The clouds have begun to frown;
But with a stout vessel and crew,
We'll say, Let the storm come down!
And the song of our hearts shall be,
While the winds and the waters rave,
A home on the rolling sea!
A life on the ocean wave!

PLANS OF CORTELYOU.

How He Will Run the New Administrative Department.

THE SECRETARY'S VARIED DUTIES

At the Head of Many Important Functions of Government—Organization and Equipment of Old and New Bureaus.

Washington, April 8.—Although in its inscrutable wisdom congress cut down the estimate of money needed to carry on the work of the new department of commerce and labor to a ridiculously low figure, Secretary Cortelyou is not disheartened, but takes up the manifold duties imposed upon him with courage and confidence. Even though hampered by lack of funds, it may be set down as certain that the energetic and resourceful young secretary will not be content to permit his portfolio to become merely an ornamental appendage to the machinery of federal administration. Already he has the work of organizing and equipping the various subdivisions of the department well in hand, though the actual operations of most of them do not begin until the opening of the next fiscal year on July 1. By that time Secretary Cortelyou will have his machinery running smoothly. Smoothness is a characteristic of the man, and there is pretty sure to be very little unnecessary friction or wasted energy in any enterprise under his direction.

SECRETARY CORTELYOU'S WASHINGTON HOUSE

The long list of bureaus, old and new, comprising the department of commerce and labor sufficiently indicates the varied character of the work laid out for Mr. Cortelyou, and to successfully meet these duties he needs all the energy, versatility and executive ability of which he is credited with being possessed. As the head of this new governmental machine he will be a regulator of industrial combinations, an investigator of labor disputes, a promoter of foreign trade, a fosterer of manufactures, supreme sealer of weights and measures, guardian of the mariners along the coasts, protector of food fishes, adjuster of boundary lines between the states of the Union and supervisor of immigration, besides performing other functions, including that of an adviser, in common with other cabinet officers, of the president of the United States. All this is no easy task, but it must be remembered that George Cortelyou is "chuck full of days' work."

There are no big plums and no sinecures under this new department. The secretary will, of course, receive the regular cabinet salary of $8,000, every cent of which he must spend if he desires to shine in society. As a matter of fact several cabinet officers expend three times their salary for living expenses at the capital.

As to perquisites, there are very few. His "official messenger" may be detailed to serve as his butler or valet de chambre if he so desires, and several carriages and a span of horses are furnished by the government for his use. They are cared for in a stable attached to the department, and Uncle Sam pays for their feed and grooming. The secretary's coachman and footman are also paid out of the public funds.

The highest salary in the department below that of the secretary is but $5,000. This is the pay fixed for the assistant secretary and several of the bureau chiefs. Under the state department, for instance, they run as high as $17,500, the pay of ambassadors. Under the war and navy departments there are officers drawing more pay than the secretary.

The most conspicuous subdivision of the department is the bureau of corporations. It was brought into being by the famous "Nelson amendment." At its head is the commissioner of corporations, with a salary of $5,000, appointed by the president, who named James R. Garfield as the first incumbent of the office. The deputy commissioner is allowed $3,500. Below these provisions is made for a chief clerk, a corps of special agents and a considerable force of clerks. In his investigations of American corporations, joint stock companies, corporate combinations, etc., engaged in interstate and foreign trade the commissioner will have the power to subpoena witnesses and compel them to give testimony or to produce documentary evidence under oath. His powers will apply to all corporations, etc., except the transportation companies falling within the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission. Suborned witnesses failing to give testimony will be punished for contempt and are liable to writs of injunction restraining their business until they comply. No witness before the commissioner of corporations will be subjected to any penalty for what he testifies unless he perjures himself. But his failure to testify will make him liable to a fine of from $100 to $5,000, imprisonment up to one year or both. The commissioner of corporations will publish reports on the financing and workings of trusts and so called trusts and will gather data which may aid the president in recommending laws to further remedy the "trust evils."

The new branch of the department next in importance is the bureau of manufactures. The salary of the chief is fixed at $4,000. This functionary will develop manufacturing interests and will seek markets for manufactures at home and abroad. A new official of the state department will submit to the bureau of manufactures such reports of consuls in all foreign lands as recommend markets for American goods or describe improvements upon American methods.

The third new branch is the bureau of statistics, which combines the bureau of statistics, taken from the treasury department, and the bureau of foreign commerce, detached from the state department. This bureau will do the difficult and complicated statistical work of the department.

One of the most important functions of the department will be the protection of marine commerce. The bureau with the greatest personnel will be that in charge of the lighthouse establishment, on whose pay rolls are nearly 3,000 men.

The commissioner of navigation will decide all questions relating to the issue of registers, enrollments, licenses of vessels and the collection and refunding of tonnage taxes. He will also have power to change the names of vessels and will be required to prepare annually a list of ships.

The supervising inspector general of steam vessels will administer the steamboat inspection laws.

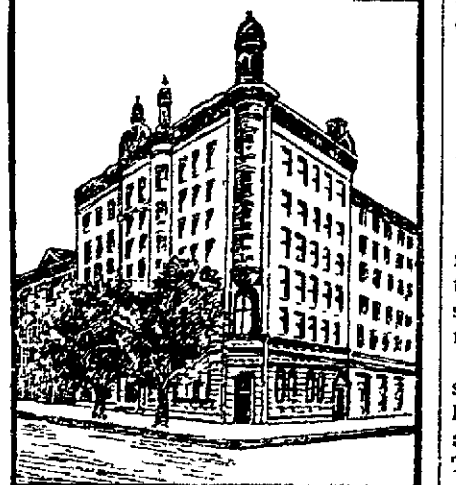

The coast and geodetic survey bureau will prepare mariners' charts of the entire coast line, survey all of the rivers to the head of tide water, sound the ocean's depths and study its great currents, correct the mariner's compass and study disturbances of the magnetic needle. Apart from its work in the aid of mariners this great scientific bureau will determine points of latitude and longitude for the adjustment of state boundary lines and surveys, measure the height of mountains and determine the exact geographical position of all points in the country.

The new department takes over from the treasury department the administration of affairs relating to immigration. One of its chief bureaus will revise the immigration regulations and enforce the alien contract labor laws. New officers under the new department will be charged with the same duties in the enforcement of the Chinese exclusion laws which formerly fell to collectors of customs and internal revenue.

The bureau of labor under the new department will collect and diffuse useful information on subjects of interest to the American laboring man, setting forth the relations of capital to labor, the hours of labor, the earnings of laboring men and women and the means of promoting their material, social, intellectual and moral prosperity. This bureau will investigate all controversies between employers and employees which may interfere with the welfare of the public.

The task of taking the census every ten years will be under the supervision of the secretary of commerce and labor, as will also be the statistical work of the permanent census recently authorized by congress.

The bureau of fish and fisheries will propagate for the ever hungry public useful food fishes, including lobsters, oysters and other shellfish. It will investigate the cause of decrease in valuable food fishes. It will study the fishing grounds off the coasts with the view of determining their value as commercial fisheries. The government's supervision of the Alaskan fur seal, also of salmon and other fisheries hitherto undertaken under the treasury, will be transferred to the new department.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR BUILDING.

With all this to attend to the department of commerce and labor will be about the busiest of Uncle Sam's great government units. One of the difficulties in operating it is that some of the workshops are scattered rather widely over this City of Magnificent Distances. The coast and geodetic survey, on Capitol hill, is a mile and a half east of the White House. The new building now being erected for the bureau of standards will be three and a half miles northwest of the White House, and the fish commission is in the center of the mall.

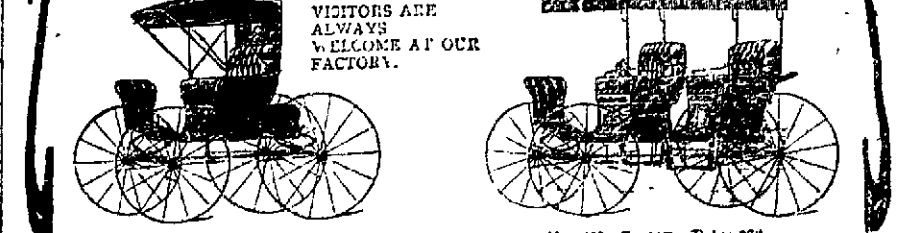

In his estimate of the financial needs of his department Secretary Cortelyou asked congress for an appropriation of $7,000,000 for a suitable building, which however, congress declined to grant either in whole or in part. This does look like a big sum of money for the housing of the new department, but at the same time it is a big sum of money compared to the great number of workers employed and the possibilities of its future growth. $7,000,000 does not seem like a big sum. WATCHMAN

FRANK REEL COUNTS PEOPLE WHO PASS

Over the B. & O. Main Street Tracks the First Week in April—Figures are Astonishing.

There is no better or safer crossing watchman in Newark or any other city than Mr. Frank Reel the faithful B. & O. watchman at East Main street crossing. Never since he has been there, a period of many years, has there been an accident on this crossing. In all kinds of weather and at all times when trains, engines or cars are crossing Main street, he is out warning pedestrians or informing them that it is safe to cross.

This is probably the busiest crossing in Newark, and by an accurate count kept by Mr. Reel from the 1st to the 7th of April a period of 7 days of 12 hours, or 84 hours, there were over 36,000 people crossed the tracks at that point. This counts vehicles of any kind as one. Thus a street car with 30 passengers, or a wagon with four, a buggy with two persons, were only counted as one.

There were over 19,000 persons crossed on foot in the seven days.

The safety of the public is well assured when such a man as Frank Reel maintains as busy a crossing as the East Main street B. & O. crossing.

DENISON COMMITTEE

To Raise Money to Meet Requirement of John D. Rockefeller--New Chair at Denison--First Ball Game--Granville News.

Granville, Ohio, April 9.—The Board of Trustees of Denison University held a very important meeting here Tuesday afternoon and evening and transacted considerable important business the nature of which has not fully been made public. Among the business transacted, however, was the establishment of a Professorship of History for Denison. Prof. C. E. Goodell, now teacher in a western college, was elected to fill the position. Professor Goodell has done advanced work in preparation for historical teaching in Cornell University and the University of Chicago, taking his D. D. degree at the latter institution. He has had several years experience in teaching, and comes here highly recommended. His work will begin in September.

The trustees also took up the matter of the Rockefeller endowment, and a committee consisting of Dr. E. W. Hunt, president of Denison university, C. M. Peters, president of the King Powder company, Cincinnati; E. J. Barney, of the Barney & Smith Car Works of Dayton; E. M. Thresher, president of the Columbia Fire Insurance company of Dayton; Hon. C. T. Lewis, attorney, Toledo, and Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, pastor of the Euclid avenue Baptist church of Cleveland, was appointed to secure funds to meet Mr. Rockefeller's offer of $80,000 and to commence the work of constructing the new buildings for Denison as fast as the money is raised.

The trustees who were in attendance at the meeting were G. M. Peters, Cincinnati; J. B. T. of Dayton; Harvey Keeler, Cleveland; E. M. Thresher, Dayton; Vinton Sheppard, Cincinnati; E. J. Barney, Dayton; J. M. Amos, Cambridge; Dr. Colby, Dayton; S. F. Van Voorhis and Rev. B. F. Patt, Newark; H. F. Colby, Cincinnati, and Prof. A. D. Cole, Columbus.

The Ladies' Advisory Committee of Shepardson College also met on Tuesday afternoon at the college, and considered the Rockefeller gift to Denison. A committee was appointed to solicit funds, and the work of raising money will be immediately commenced. Among the members of the committee who were in attendance at the meeting were Mrs. C. T. Lewis, Toledo; Mrs. G. M. Peters, Cincinnati; Mrs. J. M. Amos, Cambridge; Mrs. Nichols, Wilmington; Mrs. S. F. Van Voorhis and Mrs. J. R. Davies, Newark; Mrs. McKibbin of Walnut Hills; Mrs. L. T. Scofield, Walnut Hills.

The first ball game of the season will be played on Athletic Park, this place, on Saturday, when the Mutes of Columbus, and Denison will cross bats. The game will be called promptly.

BETTER THAN PILLS.

The Gymnasium Has Cured Many a Case of Dyspepsia.

William H. Evans used to boast that he had never even looked into a gymnasium, which was his way of saying that in his opinion gymnastics were all nonsense. "People say to me, 'Mr. Evans, you're hale and hearty when you ought to be thinking of your grave,' and they wonder how I do it."

Of course the secret of the haleness and the heartiness was temperance—moderation, says the New York News.

No man who goes to bed on a supper of mince pie and Welsh rabbit and wakes up for a breakfast of sausage and buckwheat cakes and then spends most of the day twisting from one side of a desk to the other can long avoid the prescription of hot water three a day before meals. "Temperance" is one of the words that are ridiculed until they impress themselves upon giddy humanity with the effect of a branding iron.

Some happy mortals like Mr. Evans have no use for a gymnasium, for they find gymnastic apparatus everywhere. The street is their half mile track; the two flights of steps—or maybe ten flights—are the lung developers; the free and vigorous swing of the arms and the throwing out of the chest are as good as parallel bars.

There are men somewhat intemperate in their temperance, displaying too much of the good thing. They crack your knuckles when they take you by the hand; they pound you on the back, as if a fishbone were stuck in your throat, and say, "Brace up, old man, you'll be round shouldered if you don't take care."

But there is this to be said in favor of the gymnasium—it has cured many a case of dyspepsia and to that extent has made the world sweeter.

Quite a crowd of lovers of the game are expected from Newark, and the students and citizens of this place should turn out in a body and start the team off right, with their support. The game promises to be a good one and well worth seeing.

RUNAWAY—A horse attached to a meat wagon was frightened at the Second street railroad crossing late on Wednesday afternoon, but was kept in check by the driver, although the tugs and other harness became detached. Shortly afterwards a farmer's horse attached to a buggy started to run away. The bride slipped off the horse's head, but the owner succeeded in stopping him before any serious damage was done. This is a very dangerous crossing and gates should be placed there.

"SAVED MY LIFE AND KEPT ME FROM INSANE ASYLUM."

Mrs. Wilcox is Now in Perfect Health Through No Other Agency Than

Paine's Celery Compound

The absolute need of an honest and genuine invigorator and health giver in the spring season is deeply impressed on the mind of every thinking and intelligent man and woman.

The happy cure of Mrs. J. E. Wilcox, of Winters, Cal., through the use of Paine's Celery Compound, created widespread astonishment and joy amongst her friends and neighbors who were exceedingly anxious regarding her condition.

The best medical treatment failed even to give Mrs. Wilcox a few days of relief from her sufferings of mind and body. At last, Paine's Celery Compound saved her from a terrible and and planted her feet firmly on the rock of health.

Read Mrs. Wilcox's letter of testimony, dear reader, and if you remain obdurate and unbelieving after such an earnest and convincing confession of cure, nothing but a direct act of Providence can snatch you from the dangers and perils of your position.

Mrs. Wilcox says:

"I feel it my duty to tell you what Paine's Celery Compound did for me. Some years ago my head troubled me so that it seemed I should be crazy. It was caused by overstudy. I asked the advice of two doctors who gave me medicine to no effect, and I did not know what I would do. I did not want to see any one, everything seemed so strange. I had a tired, lagging feeling, my bowels were out of order, my kidneys troubled me, and I felt badly, but before I had taken half of one bottle of Paine's Celery Compound I felt like a new person. Four bottles cured me, and I would recommend it to all who feel the way I did. I can't praise it half enough for I know it saved my life and kept me from imprisonment in an insane asylum, which is as bad as death."

CLAY LICK

Master Stanley Whitford, after a week's visit with Newark relatives, has returned home.

A small colony of Italians is now just east of town. They are railroad.

What with the election and the presence of a goodly number of foreigners our village has been very wide awake the last week.

Elder Hickman of Newark, was here last week conducting a short series of meetings. While here he was most pleasantly entertained by Mr. and Mrs. A. Mason and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Cartnal.

A number of the younger Clay Lickers will attend the literary at Hammer town Wednesday evening.

Madison township elected the following officers: Trustee, A. Hull, R; treasurer, Chas. Moore, R; justice of the peace, W. J. Mossman, D; assessor, Will Oatman, D; constable, Worth Jones, R. From the foregoing it will be seen that the Madison township political pie was quite evenly divided.

The contest for supervisor in the Clay Lick road district resulted in a victory for Homer Hilleary over his opponent, Curtis Perry Rian. Mr. Hilleary was a prime favorite among Clay Lickers while Mr. Rian received much of the out of town vote.

SAVED FROM SUICIDE

In the case shown by above photographs, the sufferer, Mr. Henry Kensler of Pittsfield, Ill., was in a desperate state from eczema which had continued for over ten years, becoming steadily worse and worse each year in spite of all doctoring possible. Life seemed hopeless and suicide was often thought of.

Seeing an account in a newspaper a short time ago of a remarkable case of eczema cured by D. D. D., Mr. Kensler tried it. He wrote in to the D. D. D. Company offering to be photographed and to permit publication of his photo if they would guarantee the remedy to cure him as completely as in the case he had read of. From the first use of it he states that all itching and distress disappeared. And in three weeks the skin healed over in every spot where affected. In a short time (it was a matter of only a very few days) the proper, white, natural, smooth state of skin was restored, and there has never since been any recurring sign of the disease anywhere on his body.

Started in Few Small Spots.

The persistent spreading and tenacity of this disease are seen in this case. First one and then another small spot showed. Nothing could drive them away. Slowly the limbs became covered and the neck and back. He fought hard to save the face, but that next was covered and told the story of his misery to the world. Then the hair became encrusted with it. Small beginnings were showing almost everywhere else on the body, hardly a square inch being free from it. In a few years more the man would undoubtedly have been a wretched, writhing scab had D. D. D. not conquered the disease. With his tortures already experienced and with this future staring him in the face, what wonder is it that suicide seemed inviting.

A wonderful particular of this case (as seen in all cases more or less) is that the worst big sores were the first to give way to the treatment, while the disease lurking under the skin held on longest. Twenty-one days, however, cleared out the whole affection—every germ of it.

I Vouch For Above.

The facts in this case of Mr. Henry Kensler of Pittsfield, Ill., have been laid before me in all details with proofs that are unmistakable. Every particular in the history of this remarkable cure more than bears out the above statement of the case. From the proofs submitted, I feel that this announcement comes far from doing full justice to the remarkable merit of a medicine which accomplishes results so important to humanity.

Since I have handled the preparation in this city, a great number of people have used it for various skin affections. Its results have been invariably satisfactory. I am therefore willing to guarantee any purchaser full return of his $1.00, if satisfactory results are not experienced from a trial of a bottle in any case of skin affection.

JESUS, LOVER OF MY SOUL

By Charles Wesley

CHARLES WESLEY, evangelist and hymn writer, was the younger brother of John Wesley, the celebrated founder of the Methodist Episcopal church. Charles Wesley was born at Epworth, Lincolnshire, England, on Dec. 28, 1707, five years after John, and died in 1791, his brother surviving him three years. They were both educated at Oxford and visited America in 1735-36. Of the two, Charles was the more prolific writer, many of the hymns of the Methodist church being from his pen. Among them are "Love Divine, All Love Excelling," "Eternal Beam of Light Divine" and "A Charge to Keep I Have."

JESUS, lover of my soul,
Let me to Thy bosom fly,
While the nearer waters roll,
While the tempest still is high.
Hide me, O my Saviour, hide,
Till the storm of life is past;
Safe into Thy hands I glide,
Safe into Thy arms I nestle—
Oh, receive my soul at last.

Other refuge have I none—
Hangs my helpless soul on Thee;
Leave, ah! leave me not alone—
Still support and comfort me.
All my trust on Thee is stayed,
All my help from Thee I bring;
Cover my defenceless head
With the shadow of Thy wing.

Will Thou not regard my call?
Will Thou not regard my prayer?
Lo! I sink, I faint, I fall;
Lo! on Thee I cast my care.
Reach me out Thy gracious hand,
While I of Thy strength receive!
Hoping against hope I stand—
Dying, and behold I live.

Thou, O Christ, art all I want—
More than all in Thee I find;
Ridest the fallen, cheer the faint,
Heal the sick, and lead the blind.
Just and holy is Thy name—
I am all unrighteousness;
False, and full of sin am I—
Thou art full of truth and grace.

Plenteous grace with Thee is found—
Grace to cover all my sin;
Let the healing streams abound—
Make and keep me pure within.
Thou of life the fountain art—
Freely let me take of Thee;
Spring Thou up within my heart—
Rise to all eternity.

LICKING

County in the Lead Among Workers in Sunday Schools—It's a Result of Organized Effort

The following extract from an article in The Ohio Sunday School Worker, January number, is certainly encouraging: "If there could be such a thing as a miracle in the organized Sunday School work that term could without doubt, be appropriately applied to Licking County. The crowning evidence in its superiority is exhibited in The Licking County Sunday School Year Book for 1902; a beautiful printed and illustrated pamphlet of fifty pages, recently published by the County Association. State officers who have known Licking County and its relations to the organized work in other years can scarcely realize that it now stands in the very forefront. Four years ago, and for many years before, Licking County was practically a cipher in the organized Sunday School work. In an incredibly short time it has reached such a standard of excellence and has become so commendable an example that the other counties may laudably aspire to follow."

"This wonderful transformation has been wrought largely through Mr. Wilson A. Holmes, the former efficient County Secretary of Adams County, who moved to Licking County four years ago, to attend Denison University. He realized as did no other man in the county, what it was losing in a failure to co-operate actively in the plans of the State Association. He plunged into the work and was made County Secretary, in spired former county officers, gathered about him, men of strength and courage, spent his Saturdays and Sunday working over the County, establishing normal classes, holding institutes awakening interest and overcoming prejudice, until after four years of labor when he left the state to pursue a seminary course he passed the association over to his successor, Mr. C. W. Shinn a front-line county, with the organized work strongly entrenched in the hearts of the people."

The next paragraph is spent in describing the book. The editor further says:

"The Year Book is a model and should be seen by every county officer in Ohio. It reveals something done and appeals to the business sense of the schools and men who are willing to support a worthy enterprise, when it is carried on in a business-like way. The publication is a sign of progress."

It is certainly encouraging to know that our country has obtained a creditable standing, but the duty is all the more imperative, not only to hold what has been gained, but to maintain the rate of progress which we have set for ourselves. To do this we must have a convention in every township and each township apportionment paid. We must report an increase in the Home Department, Normal Classes, Cradle Rolls, Teachers' meetings and scholars led to Jesus.

We should have the offerings coming in now from the different schools. In sending in the offerings please mention the township, and you may save us some confusion.

A WESTERN HALL OF FAME.

Thompson Seton's Suggestion to Honor Memory of Explorers.

At the suggestion of Ernest Thompson Seton the directors of the St. Louis World's fair have decided to establish a western hall of fame, in which there are to be statues of fifty of the men who distinguished themselves in the winning of the west, says the New York Times. The selection of those to be honored, it is proposed, shall be determined by popular vote.

Those who have been so far mentioned are Coronado, De Soto and the Spaniards on the south. They are followed by the Frenchmen, Verandrye, Du Luth, La Salle, Hennepin, Marquette and Des Moines. Among the others are Boone, Bowie, Bridger, Beckwourth, Breckenridge, Crockett, Carson, Clark, Fremont, Long, Macy, Ross, Pike, Brigham Young and the English pioneers of the east.

It is also proposed that there shall be four large historical pictures illustrative of deeds of the pioneers.

According to the present idea as to the building of the western hall of fame, there are to be four doors opening to the four points of the compass to typify the four great gateways, St. Louis on the east, St. Paul on the north, Santa Fe on the south and San Francisco on the west.

It is also proposed to issue a book giving the lives of the fifty men chosen and containing their portraits. The volume would include facsimiles of the Spanish, French and English maps that were compiled in the reports of the pioneers. Many of these maps are in the archives of Paris and Madrid and have never been given to the public.

PRESIDENT DOOLEYIZED.

Chicago Students Adopted Popular Song in Welcoming Roosevelt.

As the president's carriage rolled into the campus at the University of Chicago the other afternoon the waiting crowd of students joined in hearty cheers and then, to the air of "Mr. Dooley," sang these words, says the New York Times:

There is a sturdy gent who is known on every hand;
His smile is like a burst of sun upon a rainy land.
Hell blurt the Kaiser, shoot a bear or storm a Spanish fort,
Then sigh for something else to do and write a book on sport.

Oh, Mr. Roosevelt,
He makes his blows felt
Whenever he hits—he's always hitting too.
And one year more, sir,
In 1894, sir.

I guess we'll have to vote for Teddy Roo.

Last time he came to see us he was just a perfect gent,
But now he's been promoted up to be our president.
Well offer him an L.L.D.—a linger longer, do—
Because we are so very fond of Mr. Teddy Roo.

Oh, Mr. Roosevelt,
Our hellos and hellos felt
So very glad you came to see the U.
That one year more, sir,
In 1894, sir.

They want another chance to yell for you.

NEW MOTHER CHURCH.

Christian Scientists of Boston Will Build a Huge Edifice.

There is to be a new Christian Science "Mother church" in Boston, built on the site of the present structure and upon adjoining land now occupied by dwelling houses, says the New York World. Thirteen brick houses, six on Falmouth street and seven on Norway street, and a good sized flat-house on St. Paul street will be torn down, and one large structure, to be known as the "Mother church," will be erected.

The tract is about 26,000 square feet. The present structure covers 7,825 square feet, so the new one will be over four times as large as the present building.

The seating capacity is to be not less than 5,000. The cost will be close to $1,000,000.

WHEN BABY IS COMING USE Mother's Friend

Woman's greatest dream of beauty and glory is when nature has chosen her to become a mother. Every faculty is keenly alert as she foresees the joy, ambition, success and the lifelong satisfaction coming nearer, day by day, in the dear and innocent being so soon to see light, and the uncertainty whether she shall see a sweet girl or a brave boy face beside her on the pillow adds zest to her expectancy. Mother's Friend applied externally, from conception, and no mother and child can fail to be healthy, hearty, strong, clear complexioned, pure blooded and cheerful in disposition, who are mutually influenced by the continued use of this great liniment. MOTHER'S FRIEND. 1 Day of Druggist's, 50c per bottle. Cartridge "Motherhood" model free. THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga. Read Advocate "Want Ads."

OUR SENATE.

An English View of Its Power, Authority and Performance.

The senate has played a very great part in American history, and, on the whole, the tremendous power and authority wielded by the senate have been well exercised. The majority of the senators are statesmen of great political ability as well as men of high character.

There are few sights in the political world on either side of the Atlantic more impressive than the senate in session. The sense not only of a very high standard of personal capacity, but of the immense powers which it wields, seems to pervade the assembly.

The smallness of their numbers, the fact that they are armed with authority which is executive as well as legislative and the knowledge that they represent not mere localities, but states in their corporate capacity, and states which are often as populous as European kingdoms, naturally fill each individual senator with the sense of personal distinction. A United States senator is a very great man, and he knows it, and the senate, as a whole, is intensely conscious and proud of the high, majestic and common which it wields. To make a comparison, it matters very little what an individual member of the British house of commons thinks and means to do, still less what an individual British peer thinks and means to do on any given subject, but it matters a very great deal what a single United States senator thinks and means to do.

The senate can veto every appointment made by the president, whether the man nominated for office be a judge of the supreme court or an ambassador or merely a collector of customs. Again the senate can, by refusing to pass it, veto any bill sent up from the lower house, no matter whether the bill is concerned with the raising or spending of money or with alterations in the law. Lastly, not a majority, but any minority which numbers over a third of the senate can refuse to ratify any treaty presented for ratification by the president. Thus the executive can make no binding treaty with any foreign power unless it can obtain a two-thirds majority in the senate. In other words, the senate can say the final word not only in regard to all legislation, but in regard to all finance, all appointments to high office and to foreign affairs of the nation.---London Spectator.

A Rapid Typewriter.
It is claimed for the typewriters in the United States patent office at Washington that they are experts in speed and accuracy, says the Philadelphia Public Ledger's correspondent. The championship is held by Miss Mary E. Prettymann of Philadelphia, who came into the office three months ago. She was appointed typewriter and stenographer at $720 a year and assigned to make copies of the records. The other day Miss Prettymann attained the extraordinary record of writing 17,500 words during six and one-half hours. It is said that this "beats the record."

A-Fishin'.
"All winter long till April came I'd 'ee a-ben a-fishin'." "T' spring 'd git to hurry up. So's I'll an' me 'd go fishin'." "It seems like things don't never come when folks is in a hurry." "But I'll d' say: 'Sho'! What's yer rush? 'T' 'll git here, don't you worry.'"
So yest' day mornin' Sil' says, "Bub, You better tell yer mother 'Bout goin' fishin' bimber." "We might ketch suthin' er other." "An' then we digged a can of worms. An' rigged our hooks an' sinkers. An' fixed some floats an' worked, Sil' says, 'Jes' like a couple of tinkers.'"

Through th' back fence an' down th' lane. That Bimber's cows all follow. We skinned across th' pasture lot. An' come to Sucker hollow. An' there, when Sil' had cut our poles. An' both our hooks was baited. We spit upon our bait, an' then. We set down still an' waited.

Bimber I got a awful bite. Sil' yelled like he was crazy. An' says, "Hold on till I git there. Gee-mim." He's a daisy! He grabbed th' pole an' jerked th' line. An' swung it in a circle. An' then he yelled, a-laughin'. "Gosh! We've ketcht a gal dumber turkie!" Truman Roberts Andrews in Lippincott's Magazine for April.
